A Tough Marketplace does not deter AccountMate Resellers from gaining Recognition as 2009 Pacesetters

PETALUMA, CA (November 13, 2009)— In these challenging economic times, AccountMate Software resellers are doing what it takes to steady the course and come out of 2009 on a positive upswing. It is especially true for three of AccountMate's resellers who were recognized by Accounting Today in their "annual list of top-notch value-added resellers". This 2009 Technology Pacesetters list is made up of those VARs who have especially positioned themselves for the economic recovery. These AccountMate resellers are Kevin Stroud of NexLAN LLC in Danville, Illinois, Vernon Ikeler of ISYS, LLC in Torrance, California and Linda Bryan of Tamlin Software Developers in Dallas, Texas.

These resellers are described as "Lean, mean and ready for the future". One of the things that define a Pacesetter "is the ability to get going when the going gets tough". And who is better to address that than Kevin Stroud, president and chief executive of NexLAN, an Elite AccountMate reseller. Kevin is quoted as saying, "We've picked up numerous clients from other VARs that are now exiting the marketplace (translation: folding their tent and retiring)." That is just one of the many ways NexLAN has succeeded growing their business this past year.

AccountMate is proud to be represented by growing organizations like ISYS, NexLAN and Tamlin. They are a part of a very knowledgeable and dedicated group of AccountMate global resellers that work diligently to provide their clients with robust software and reliable customer service. These are the cornerstones for excelling in normal and less-normal financial conditions.

AccountMate is proud to congratulate these three organizations on their being awarded Accounting Today's 2009 Pacesetter recognition. These are well-deserved recognitions.
