

AccountMate Enterprise 2023

Want the ability to temporarily increase customer credit limit for a short time?

(Petaluma, CA) (January 17, 2023) Tommy Tan, Chief Technology Officer, kicked off announcing the recent version release of AccountMate Enterprise 2023. His comment was, "I appreciate my team's efforts to produce this latest feature-rich AccountMate Enterprise 2023. All of us at AccountMate want our Solution Providers and their customers to know that we are producing an Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) software system that will allow them to continue to save both time and money to grow their businesses."

There are too many enhancements in AccountMate Enterprise 2022 to list them all. A few higher visibility enhancements are:

- Ability to temporarily increase customer credit limit for a short time
- Authorized users have the option to put sales orders on credit hold for customers who have exceeded their credit limit and the holds are monitored separately from regular sales orders
- Allow payroll decisions to span across tax years
- Allows emailing of pay stub(s)
- The Schedule and View Jobs buttons are added in the E-mail Pay Stub function allowing for a scheduled desired date and time where AccountMate will automatically email each chose payroll check stub to the employee(s)
- Ability to configure signature settings based on check amounts
- New Manufacturing Module import functions (work center, labor, machine, team, labor grade, and Bill of Materials
- Transaction Journal Entries Report drill-down to source transactions and more.

The Software Developer Kit (SDK) is available to aid in doing customizations. Source code remains a sellable option for clients.

Based on years of development in the Microsoft .NET environment, this AccountMate Enterprise architecture and updated navigation have been built differently than the AccountMate for SQL, Express and LAN products. Although the screen design is updated and can be different, the process workflow is standard with AccountMate's other products. For this reason, product training can be an easy transition for people upgrading from AccountMate SQL / AccountMate Express / AccountMate LAN. But the tenant of similar process flow within the AccountMate Enterprise modules is the basis of a consistent long-life software system for AccountMate clients. Inherent in this new product line is the basis for an easy transition from existing AccountMate products to AccountMate Enterprise to fit client requirements. Those clients new to AccountMate should also be able to appreciate the uniqueness of this latest AccountMate Enterprise product.
